Ole-Martin Lund Andreassen

Partner, Dr. Juris.

Ole-Martin Lund Andreassen is specialised in fishery- and aquaculture law and corporate law. Ole-Martin holds numerous positions as a member of the board in various companies, especially within the fishery- and aquaculture industry.

He regularly advises a large variety of players in the Norwegian aquaculture industry with questions regarding coastal zone planning, clearing of locations, aquaculture concessions and M&A. In the fishery industry, Ole-Martin has his speciality in assisting shipowners with transfer of fishing boats and transfer of fishing concessions. Ole-Martin is ranked as one of Norway's leading fishery- and aquaculture lawyers, and he is the leader of SANDS' business group for fishery- and aquaculture law. For six years he has been a member of the Norwegian Bar Association's panel for fishery- and aquaculture law.

Ole-Martin is also specialised in corporate law, and regularly advises clients with questions regarding shareholder disputes, liability for board of directors and with private investigation. He has a doctor's degree on the subject "protection of creditors'" and for several years has had lectures in corporate law at the University of Tromsø. He has been a member of the Norwegian Bar Association's panel for corporate law for a period of six years.
